

Beyond the Vision

Lenora uses personal stories, metaphors, audience interaction and quotes from Martin Luther King, Jr., Nelson Mandela and others to help you discover how you can use your abilities and courage to make a real and sustainable difference in today's multicultural world. This uplifting, yet thought-provoking message will go beyond diversity rhetoric to inspire you to embrace the unique gifts you have while valuing the gifts of others to increase the options for positive change.

By realizing the power to make a difference is within each individual, you will discover ways to go beyond stereotypes and bias to create an environment that supports high success while celebrating differences.

As a result of attending this session, you will be able to:

- use your knowledge and skills to determine ways to learn about and interact effectively with people different than yourself;
- engage your heart and soul sense to connect to others with compassion instead of stereotypical judgments;
- use your courage to lead sustainable changes in positive ways.
